Tourism has become an important force to promote social and economic development. Apart from that, the research spectrum of contemporary tourism has been steadily broadened. It goes gradually from an edge discipline to dialogue with other core fields. New ideas, new perspectives, new methods are increasingly emerging. In this process, the tourism research community in China has been playing a more and more important part in the international tourism research field.

In this context, The School of Tourism Management of Sun Yat-sen University (Guangzhou) initiated and invited the School of Hotel and Tourism Management of Hong Kong Polytechnic University (SHTM) to jointly organize this "International Conference on Tourism Science". The main goal of the conference is to provide an opportunity for academicians and professionals from tourism sciences and its related fields from all over the world to come together and learn from each other. An additional goal of the conference is to provide a place for academicians and professionals with cross-disciplinary interests related to tourism to meet and interact with members inside and outside their own particular disciplines. The conference is also an important academic activity to celebrate the 10th anniversary of School of Tourism Management of Sun Yat-sen University (STM-SYSU).
